Forecast for Saturday 23 Dec 2023

Weather: Cloudy with heavy rain over Perthshire and Ochil hills but heavy sleet and snow further north this lasting for much of the morning over Aberdeenshire. The less cold air will gradually drift north through the morning, though where rain falls into chilled air in some of the glens then there could be some freezing rain or ice pellets for a time. By afternoon rain should have reached the whole region with a thaw setting in. Drier conditions developing in east of area during afternoon and evening.

Chance of cloud-free hill tops above 800m: Little chance in morning, improving 40% in afternoon.

Low Cloud and visibility: Generally misty conditions during the morning with poor visibility in rain and cloud and virtually zero visibility in heavier snow leading to navigational difficulties. Also extensive clouds well down the hills. Visibility improving good in the afternoon with clouds lifting above some of the tops,

Met Office Aberdeen Meteorologist's View
Feeling bitterly cold, even when less cold air moves northwards. It will still be wet with strong winds. Also difficult underfoot conditions.

Forecast for Sunday 24 Dec 2023
Weather: A drier and brighter day with scattered showers, mostly over the Perthshire hills and the Ochils. It will become very windy with difficult walking conditions once again.

Maximum wind: Westerly gales with severe gales on the tops, possibly storm force later in north. Average speeds 40 to 50 with gusts 70mph but 80 to 90mph possible over tops of eastern Cairngorms and Aberdeenshire hills by evening.

Chance of cloud-free hill tops above 800m: 60%.

Low Cloud and visibility: Good visibility between showers with occasional cloud cover 700 to 900m. Brief reductions to poor visibility as showers pass by, especially in southwest of area, clouds more extensive down to 600m.

Temperature: Glens: Plus 7 Celsius.
At 800m: Plus 7 Celsius falling to plus 2 Celsius by evening.
Freezing level: Above tops for much of the day, lowering to 1000m after dark,
